

Sustainability and Environmental Policy

- Opus is committed to creating a pathway towards a sustainable future. We undertake our activities (internal and external) in a way that values sustainability and the natural environment.
- Our goal is to deliver world-class, innovative projects which lead the way to a sustainable and restorative world, while at the same time being accountable for our own activities.
- Opus is committed to:
 - » ensuring sustainability is embedded into Opus culture and continually improving our sustainability performance
 - » considering sustainability and the natural environment in our decision making to minimise and seek to eliminate our impacts over time
 - » seeking opportunities to promote sustainable and restorative project outcomes with our clients and stakeholders
 - » providing thought leadership through research and initiatives to improve sustainability and environmental outcomes
 - » supporting causes that strengthen and enhance the communities where we live and work
 - » providing sound corporate governance to ensure the financial and economic sustainability of our business
 - » recognising the cultural diversity of our people, clients, stakeholders and communities, and respecting and valuing their different cultural practices and beliefs
 - » the responsibilities outlined in our Diversity and Inclusion Policy which ensure people feel valued and take pride and enjoyment working for Opus
 - » the responsibilities outlined in our Human Resources Policy (yet to be published) which ensures our employees skills, competencies, knowledge and talent are proactively identified and nurtured.
 - » complying with applicable legislation and regulations and with other requirements to which the organisation subscribes
